Join us for our Family Picnic/Luau on August 4!

Celebrate our wonderful network of Autism Connections families!

Grab your Hawaiian shirt and sunglasses and gather the family to join us for a summertime Luau celebration at Stanley Park on August 4! This is an all ages event for our extended community of families. You do not have to be working with Autism Connections.

We will be grilling up hot dogs and hamburgers with all of the fixings, and will be set up for lawn games and some special picnic activities.

Please help us with our Side Dish Picnic Potluck and show off your favorite family picnic recipes. If your last name begins with A-L, please bring a cold dish to share, or if your last name starts with M-Z, please bring a dessert if you can!

Our theme is a Luau and we are even going to try a limbo activity—good luck to those of us with great flexibility! Tropical attire is welcome, the more tropical the better.

Enjoy an afternoon of family, friends, food (someone ELSE cooking), and relaxation. An RSVP to Danielle is required so we can be sure to have enough food for everyone. Thank you and see you there!

Date: Saturday August 4
Time: 3:30-6:00
Location: Stanley Park

New time this year!
The Autism Collaborative of Berkshire County

The Autism Collaborative of Berkshire County (ACBC) will meet on Friday, September 21, 2018, 10 a.m.-12 p.m. at the BCARC Training Room, Berkshire Common, 2 South Street, Suite 370, 3rd Floor, in Pittsfield for the first meeting of the new school year.

Our topic will be about resource sharing. Bring along information for any resources you would like to share with the group. We will also be distributing our schedule for the rest of the year.

We have a new feature to the group starting in September! We’ve had requests for an evening meeting time, so this month we will be offering an additional meeting on Tuesday, September 25, from 6 p.m.-8 p.m. Our speaker will be Educational Advocate Karen Mowry. Please spread the word and come check out this new meeting time!

If you are a professional, someone with autism, a family member of someone with autism, or a concerned community member please email us at emailacbc@gmail.com or visit our website (http://bit.ly/AutismCollaborative) or our Facebook page (https://www.facebook.com/ACBCBerkshire/) to tell us about your ideal wishes for collaboration! Please check our website for any last minute meeting changes.

Buddy’s Sunshine Angels Golf Tournament

This year Buddy’s Sunshine Angels Golf Tournament is September 15 at Bas Ridge Golf Course in Hinsdale, MA. The event is organized yearly by Jennie and Joe Clark and the proceeds benefit Autism Connections through the Berkshire Autism Initiative. Funds from this event support families in Berkshire County.

The format for the day is a 4-person scramble. Check in is at 11:30 a.m. and Shot-Gun start at 12:00 p.m. The cost of $100 per person and $400 for a 4-person team includes 18 holes with a cart, door prize, $10 drink coupon, hamburgers and hot dogs at the turn, a buffet catered by Oizzie’s Steak and Eggs, raffles and contests on the course. Prizes for both 1st and 2nd place are golf for 4 at Bas Ridge, and the winner receives a 1st place trophy.

For more information, to sponsor, or to sign up, contact Joe Clark at (413)212-2443 or joelarkcamp@gmail.com about this community charitable event.
Summer is a wonderful time to relax with your family and enjoy vacations and hopefully a little downtime. Thinking about getting back to school in a few weeks can be hard, and probably the last thing on your mind. It can be tough to remember how much even a little preparation can make the transition to a new school year easier for your child.

Back to school time is challenging for everyone, but can be exceptionally difficult for children with autism. We’ve traded in our long nights and flexible summer schedules for the daily grind of bed times and morning routines. The many potential stresses associated with starting a new school year, including new teachers, new classrooms and new peers, can translate to anxiety with the transition.

Here are a few tips to help smooth the transition.

Countdown

Two to three weeks prior to the start of school, start daily conversations about what is coming. Create a visual calendar for the refrigerator with a countdown. Include little celebrations for the end of summer to add to the list!

Visit

Contact your school to see about visiting a new classroom and the new teacher before school starts.

Prepare

Adjust bedtime and strengthen the nighttime routine well in advance of the first day of school.

Practice

If your child has had difficulties getting off to school in the past, create a visual morning task list and put it into action a few days prior to the first day of school.

---

Once school starts:

No surprises

Minimize anxiety by using your kitchen calendar to mark all upcoming activities and important dates. Identify any upcoming important changes to his/her schedule. Have your child be an active participant in talking about preparation leading up to the activity or event.

Routines

Most students with autism respond well to routines. Keep them updated on daily expectations and have regular check-ins to see how they are coping with the new school year as it progresses.

Meet and Greet

Schedule a meeting with team members within the first 8 weeks of school to review IEP/504. This allows a great opportunity for everyone to share your child’s successes and strategize on any areas of concern.

Visit

In addition to the team meeting, consider setting up a time to meet the additional staff that your child interacts with daily. This should include as many people as possible, kitchen staff, janitors, specialists, teachers and administrators!

Sensory Ready

If your child has sensory concerns, consider putting together a sensory “tool box”. The school can help you with this accommodation within the IEP, so do not be afraid to ask! Things like noise cancelling headphones, a special toy, silly putty, a special piece of clothing, or anything else that your child...

School prep continued from page 3

responds well to may be considered. If needed, have one for home, transport and the school.

Check in
In some cases a home/school log will help keep everyone up to speed. If you do not use a log, remember you can call or email your child’s teacher at any time to check in on their progress. The anxiety of a new school year can affect you as much as it can affect your children. You can curb that anxiety by reaching out to your own support network.

Volunteer
Remember that in most schools, parents are encouraged to volunteer whenever they can. Look into that possibility and find out if you can become an active participant in your child’s classroom or in the greater school community.

Ask for Help
If you get to a point where you are feeling overwhelmed by the school year, reach out to your extended social network to ask for help.

Celebrate
Although transitioning back to school can cause anxiety, it is important to celebrate all the little successes with your child. Recognize daily with them through verbal praise or a reward system. And again, remember it’s just as important to take care of yourself. So, take those precious quiet moments to reflect on how hard you have worked!

Welcome Kim!
Autism Connections has a new addition to our team! Kim Wycoff is our newest Autism Waiver Broker. She joins us with a diverse background in supporting both children and adults with autism and intellectual disabilities. Kim is already a member of the Pathlight community, as she volunteered her dance expertise for Pathlight’s “Let’s Dance” fundraising event last fall, and helped to make it a great experience for all! Please join us in welcoming Kim!

Autism Connections also wishes a fond farewell to Leeanne Hadsel. Leeanne has been part of our Autism Waiver team and the IFFS program, and we wish her the best with her future goals!

Recent activities
Our end of school year activities were hopping this year! We started off the week with another sensory-friendly hour at Bounce Trampoline Sports in Springfield. It was wonderful to see both new and familiar faces.

We were also excited for the “Incredible” turn out at a sensory-friendly showing of “The Incredibles 2.” Autism Connections finally got to see its name up in lights!

Thank you to everyone who joined us in celebrating the end of school year and the start of summer with these fun activities. We hope to see you at our Annual Picnic on Saturday, August 4th!

TRAININGS

Autism Connections’ Trainings
Autism Connections is dedicated to educating the community about the strengths and challenges commonly associated with autism. Our knowledgeable team offers a variety of professional development opportunities to educators and human service organizations. The trainings we currently offer are:

- An Insight into Autism
- Asperger’s 101
- The Hidden Curriculum (unwritten social rules and expectations)
- Understanding and Responding to Challenging Behaviors
- IEP

Trainings are about 2 hours and can be modified to better fit the needs of your team. Please email Katie.drumm@pathlightgroup.org for more information.

Autism Family companion community
A group of parents in the Amherst area are seeking to find and train companions that can offer services to different individuals in the group (ages 22+). They would like to organize themselves and a group of companions to provide common training and information about their family member to increase community opportunities and expand social networks. For more information please contact dr.k@trianglefamilydental.com or peltiersings@gmail.com.

Research Studies

Research Studies

Boston University
Boston University researchers are recruiting parents and high school students with autism to participate in an 18-month longitudinal study. They are looking for students with autism who are in their last year of high school and who will graduate with a regular high school diploma. Participation should take 30-60 minutes at each time point. Parents will receive a $25 gift card at each time point and youth will receive a $15 gift card at each time point. For more information, email buroad@bu.edu, call (617) 353-2060 or visit http://sites.bu.edu/roadahead/.

Boston University is also looking for siblings, service providers and adults with autism for another study to develop a new program to increase siblings’ involvement with future planning for their brother or sister with autism. For more information contact forward@bu.edu.

UMASS
UMass Amherst is conducting a speech, language and listening study for teens with autism between the ages of 13-18. One of the requirements for the study is the ability to communicate verbally.

The study consists of one session of about 2 hours, and takes place on the UMass Amherst campus. Short breaks will be provided as needed and test findings will be forwarded to parents upon request. Participants will receive a $40 Target gift card upon completion of all testing. Please contact Colleen Gargan (cgargan@umass.edu) or Mary Andrianopoulos (mva@comdis.umass.edu or 413-545-0551 for more information.

Researchers at UMass are also looking for children 3.5-5 years old to join a research study investigating the developing brain. The study includes two visits. Parents will complete a questionnaire while kids play games on a touchscreen. A $60 stipend is provided for each visit. Call 413-545-23992 or email seedlab@umass.edu for more information.

Brandeis
Is your teen or young adult with autism visiting a NEW adult primary care doctor this summer? These study will investigate the strategies that are used to make for a successful physical examination with a new doctor. Participate online and on the phone. Contact mew@brandeis.edu for more information.
